What's Money Map's “Reverse Oil Tax’ that Pays YOU, Not the Government?!”

Everyone hates taxes. Some of us don't mind them as much as others, of course, or consider them a reasonable contribution toward common goals, but on April 15th no one who has to mail in an extra check to cover their taxes enjoys it. So the idea that you can redirect a tax, and get [...]

Make 12X Your Money as Oil goes to $200 by July First! (Kent Moors)

We haven't covered a pick from Dr. Kent Moors for a while, the erstwhile Duquesne professor (actually, not erstwhile — he's still there) has been a pretty active stock teaser over the last year as he tries to build up the subscription base for his Energy Advantage newsletter (along with a few other higher-priced trading [...])

“Radical Tech Dividends” — Opportunity Last Seen in 2004 (Michael Robinson)

Well, it didn't take Michael Robinson long to alight on a new letter — the former editor of American Wealth Underground left his publisher and newsletter a while back (don't know why, or if it was voluntary) and has now moved to Money Map Press. Both publishers (his old one was Insiders Strategy Group) are [...]

“The Next Big Thing ... Be Among the First”

The folks at the Money Map Press are pitching one of those “kitchen sink” deals where you pay up front to get all of their newsletters for life — these are usually in the neighborhood of $3,000-5,000 with an “annual maintenance fee” that's generally around a hundred bucks, and this one is right in line [...]

2011 Turkey of the Year

We have a charming little tradition here at Stock Gumshoe of picking out the stinkiest stock to have been teased over the past year, and calling it our “Turkey of the Year” come Thanksgiving time. It's not particularly fair — certainly not to turkeys everywhere, and probably not to the newsletter folks who use breathless, [...]

SIPOs Continued: “New Spin-Off Profit Opportunity #2”

Shah Gilani has been pitching his new service, The Spin Trader, as a way to trade off of the long-observed tendency of spin-off stocks to outperform the market. We started looking at his picks last week, with the odd result that the first “spin-off profit opportunity” he teased was a company that is currently not [...]

“SIPO’s: Stocks in This Obscure, Govt.-Regulated Niche Have Returned an Average Gain of 213%”

This teaser ad from the Money Map folks for Shah Gilani’s Spin Trader has gotten a lot of attention from my readers ... and as with most of the drool-inducing ads for investment newsletters, it promises massive returns and makes them sound even sexier by inventing a new term to refer to this mysterious [...]

Friday File look at the “NUCA Oil Jackpot” tease

This article originally was restricted to the Stock Gumshoe Irregulars when published in October, but was opened up to public readership on December 2, 2011. The article was not revised, but author disclosure remains the same (I don’t own any of the stocks mentioned). We’re right at mid-month today, which would ordinarily be the time [...]

“‘The Retirement Stock’ ... on the verge of gaining FDA approval for the only ‘female Viagra’”

This is really disappointing. All this time I’ve been under the impression that your friendly neighborhood Stock Gumshoe and his terrifically handsome likeness were all the “female Viagra” the world needed ... but apparently some pharmaceutical companies disagree, and have been trying to develop a drug along those lines. At least, that’s the pitch from [...]

“The new energy boom that’s predicted to be 15,566% bigger than oil... and it could QUADRUPLE your money in the next 8 to 12 months...” (Dr. Kent Moors)

Dr. Kent Moors, who teaches political science at Duquesne and is an expert consultant on oil and gas topics, launched a newsletter with one of the many hype-crazy Agora-related publishers last year (Money Map Press, if you're keeping track, itself a spinoff of Oxford Club if I'm keeping the spaghetti strands in order). In fact, [...]

"Gold Dollars: America's New Legal Tender" Peter Schiff

This ad is another one that piggybacks on Peter Schiff — as they did a few months ago, the folks at the Money Map Report are trying to sell their newsletter subscription by giving away a copy of one of Schiff's books as part of the deal — and their promise is quite similar to [...]

"The One Thing Every Energy Company Desperately Needs" Money Map

I started yesterday to look at the latest teaser ad from Keith Fitz-Gerald and his Money Map Report — the basic theme of this ad is that the sovereign wealth funds have tons of cash, and Keith thinks he can predict where that money will go. He teased three companies in that ad — the [...]

"Profit from the World's Dawning Agriboom" Money Map Report

This one comes in from the folks at the Oxford Club, as a tease for their Money Map Report newsletter. It's a bit different in terms of the marketing offer, since technically they're trying to sell you a special report about agribusiness, and then you get a "free" subscription to Money Map Report if you [...]

Money Map: "Blue-Hot Chips Taking the World by Storm"

Several of you have undoubtedly seen this email come across your screens in the last week or two, it's been in pretty heavy rotation as far as I can see. And it's an ad for just the kind of investments many folks are looking for these days: foreign "blue chip" stocks. The newsletter being teased [...]

"I love working here"

Current Employee - Marketing Coordinator in Baltimore, MD

Recommends
Positive Outlook

I have been working at Money Map Press full-time for more than a year

Pros

There are so many! Free lunches and snacks. Hard work is rewarded, we get food trucks, happy hours, team lunches, lots of MMP swag, employee discounts, and an amazing Christmas party. There is so much growth potential here, they really want to promote from within. There is no micro-managing, you really have to be independent and succeed on your own. You have the ability to work remotely when needed - including inclement...

Cons

Rapid growth - always moving desks. We are out growing our new building so quickly. But this growth is also a pro so it's bittersweet. Some might seem micro-managing as a con - especially

"Poor employee culture and lack of leadership"

Former Employee - Marketer

Doesn't Recommend Negative Outlook

I worked at Money Map Press full-time

Pros

great location, parties with food

Cons

Money Map Press looks like a great place to work from the outside but is a disaster on the inside. They brag about being a "young company" but the truth of the matter is there's so much employee turn over that they can't keep anyone! This company has poor values and overall terrible employee culture. Employees are treated as disposable and there's no work-life balance. They also advertise "conservative pay with the opportunity..."

"The company has seen tremendous growth with no signs of slowing down"

Current Employee - Marketing Coordinator

Recommends
Positive Outlook

I have been working at Money Map Press full-time for more than a year

Pros

This is a great company to work for. It's definitely a work hard, play hard environment. There's an open floor plan and managers/directors sit with their teams. This really helps with communication and knowing what's going on with promos. Issues that arise can swiftly be dealt with and most people know who they're working with instead of just a name. This is a company that wants you to succeed and they are big on...

Show More

Cons

There is a bit of sink or swim mentality, as someone else mentioned. It's not intended to be that way as every resource is handed to you and what isn't you just have to ask about. It can be fast-paced and a lot to deal with for some people. It's not a job I would recommend to someone who wants to do the bare minimum. There's not a lot of training in the formal sense, so if you're not a hands on person it may be difficult.

Pros

Transparent business - goals and structure are laid out for all to see and work toward. Managers are all working managers, no one sits around telling people what to do. Thank you for the people who do the correct reviews on all the cheaters in any industries, and they inform the public to introduce the layers and cheaters. this review is about this company who charges money and they don't have refund like (money map reports) they think people are stupid and they don't understand and keep of laying to their clients all the time and they think they are going this way to rip up the public, They have charged me $2500 fot this service called the "the Night Trader" this loser doesn't know a shit about the market, and he collected $2500 from a 1000 people, we need to stop them asap. Not anymore, someone like Mr. Bjorn Tore B, Mr. Duane S and me will not allow these losers will continue to do their scums to our people, we vote them out of business. please inform the public about what they are doing, this way we get them out of business. Thank you, Mr Bjorn, and Mr. Duane S for your reviews. This company needs to respond to us soon, and they cannot just shut up and not respond. Yelp please send our messages to this company, we are waiting for the respond. I am asking anyone who has the same Issue please write a review and don't let what they do to us, do it to other people. Thank you

What is Money Calendar Pro?

Money Calendar Pro is a membership based investment service that is overseen by an entity known as Tom Gentile. Providing enrolled members with investment suggestions, Money Calendar Pro provides educational training videos, email bulletins along with access to a secondary service that is responsible with delivering investment signals.

Similar to Freedom Checks, Money Calendar Pro provides an editorial service that is centered around rendering investment services. Offering numerous subscription options just like Freedom Checks, Money Calendar Pro provides a broad selection of what appears to be investment advice through a variety of channels such as tutorial videos, email, trading signals along with market research.

While Tom Gentile is referred to as the main operator behind Money Calendar Pro, according to the site, their services function under the supervision of Money Map Press, LLC.

According to the Better Business Bureau, Money Map Press LLC was incorporated over a decade ago on December 11th, 2007. As seen on their BBB profile, Money Map Press LLC reflects a disclosed physical address of 16 W. Madison St., Baltimore, Maryland 21201. Mr. Keith Fitz-Gerald is the only disclosed operator who is positioned as an Investment Representative.

Other contact information we found relevant to Money Calendar Pro would be customerservice@moneymappressinfo.com or the telephone number 888-384-8339.

Who is Tom Gentile?

Tom Gentile, the main entity associated with Money Calendar Pro, is allegedly one of the world's foremost authorities on stocks, futures and option trading. According to the site, Tom Gentile focuses on delivering powerful trading systems and approaches that are engineered to propel everyday investors past the 99% and into the 1% of highly successful investors.

While research will confirm that Tom Gentile appears to be an existing entity, his credentials in regards to his licensing fail to be disclosed. Due to the lack of Tom Gentile's regulatory approval, we are uncertain whether or not he is legally within right to provide investment advice without a possible governing license.

Work?

Money Calendar Pro is an editorial service that provides investment advice such as market research, recommendations and trading signals via email. Tom Gentile is directly associated with the Money Calendar Pro publications and appears to be the sole author affiliated with that particular publication series.

Those wishing to commit with Money Calendar Pro must subscribe to the publication through the homepage. A subscription with Money Calendar Pro comes with an annual recurring subscription of $4,995. Refunds through this editorial are only valid for those who fulfill the terms of their performance guarantee which does appear to be disclosed prior to purchase.

The heavily asserted claim behind Money Calendar Pro would be that subscribers are able to turn $12,000 into $165,000 within only a year. Regrettably, no transparent evidence is included on the site to support this claim while their funnel page is used to mislead prospective subscribers into enrolling.

Unverifiable graphs are used to reflect an alleged trading portfolio of Tom Gentile's investments while a subscription through Money Calendar Pro will also automatically enroll new members with a free subscription of Power Profit Trades, which appears to be an educational training course and recommended signal delivery subscription.

What Others Are Saying

Money Calendar Pro has experienced some turbulent feedback from a wide demographic of investors. As indicated at the Better Business Bureau, Money Calendar Pro's overseeing entity, Money Map Press LLC, has experienced a 89% negative feedback ratio
